Lincoln's Public Gardens

INFORMATION GUIDE

Sunken Gardens

This natural oxbow in the basin of Antelope Creek was used in the early 1900's as a neighborhood dumping site. The garden, built in 1930, was renovated in 2005 to include modern amenities including a new pavilion, art work and accessible walks. Brilliant flowering annuals, tropicals, perennials, specimen trees, shrubs and two living ponds filled with koi fish and water lilies are on display seasonally.

FEATURES:

- ☞ Year round ponds with koi
- ☞ Spring flowering bulbs
- ☞ Seasonal tropical and annual plantings
- ☞ Winter light display
- ☞ Seasonal restrooms and drinking fountain
- ☞ Sculpture and fountains
- ☞ ADA accessible pathways
- ☞ Parking lot on site

*Located in the southwest corner of 27th and Capitol Parkway
Hours: 5am to 11pm daily, free admission
Reservations welcome for special events*

Rotary Strolling Garden

This garden features perennials, grasses and shrubs organized into colorful vignettes representing plants that can survive the climate in Lincoln.

FEATURES:

- ☞ Labeled hardy shrubs, perennials and grasses
- ☞ Sculptures
- ☞ Paved labyrinth
- ☞ ADA accessible pathways
- ☞ Gazebo
- ☞ Hydrangea plantings

Hamann Rose Garden

This area has been a garden for over a century, beginning as a test garden in 1905. Today, it is a formal hybrid tea rose garden which features 2700 individual roses and 90 varieties.

FEATURES:

- ☞ Formal rose garden
- ☞ Gazebo
- ☞ Sculptures and fountain
- ☞ Drinking fountain
- ☞ ADA accessible pathways
- ☞ Adjacent parking

*Located on the southeast corner of 27th and Capitol Parkway
Hours: 5am to 11pm, free admission
Reservations welcome for special events*

Union Plaza

Union Plaza is a first of its kind six acre urban park. As part of a roadway and storm water improvement project of Antelope Valley, it offers more than 30 species of shrubs, 25 varieties of grasses and 80 different native perennials. There is a pollinator garden with an emphasis on milkweed and monarch habitat. Planting combinations include both naturalistic mixes of species and stylized prairie combinations, showing how native plants may be introduced into the more traditional landscape.

FEATURES:

- ☞ Hiker/biker trails
- ☞ Native planting display including wildflowers
- ☞ Amphitheater, fountains and sculptures
- ☞ Jayne Snyder Trails Center, restrooms and cafe
- ☞ Children's discovery garden and playground

*Located North of O Street, between 21st and 22nd Streets
Hours: 5am to 11pm, free admission
Reservations welcome for special events*
