LUXFORD STUDIOS

Director David Young introduced Tammy Wissing. Tammy Wissing spoke regarding changes in the investment policy. Ms. Wissing stated that they are having brookers seeking to do business with the city will complete a questionnaire, require their office to be located in the state of Nebraska instead of near the state of Nebraska, increases certification of participation bonds from one year to three years for a better return, and allow 5% of the 20% portfolio municipal bonds to extend for five years as opposed to three years for a better returns. Ms. Wissing stated that they would like to review the need of an investment committee. Councilmembers raised concerns about removing an investment committee. Councilwoman Washington stated she agreed an annual review of policy makes sense, but had concerns about removing an investment committee. Councilwoman Raybould asked if it was normal for a municipality to have an investment committee. Director Young stated that they reached out to the bond council. He learned that because the investments go through scrutiny by auditors and an audit on the account every year there is oversight.
