

Information submitted by Judy Daughtery

This article goes into great detail of the different types of fire risks there are with wind turbines and the industries best ways to prevent and fight these different types of turbine fires. This is really important information to have to determine public safety and the ability of our fire departments to handle these fires.

<http://www.windsystemsmag.com/article/detail/136/turbine-fire-protection>