Who is Eligible for Medicaid?

Medicaid is available to low-income persons age 65 and over, blind, disabled, or others who have incomes and resources that meet the eligibility guidelines.

Income guidelines are based on an individual or couple's gross monthly income. Monthly income is any money received from Social Security, railroad retirement, pensions and interest that is available for support and maintenance.

Gross income is your total income before your Medicare payment is deducted. If that figure is below $1,330 for an individual or $1,804 for a couple, you may be eligible. If an individual or couple's income exceeds these amounts, they may still qualify. Medicaid allows specific deductions that may bring your income down to the eligibility level. Others whose income is over the guidelines would be expected to pay a portion of their medical expenses. This is considered your "Share of Cost."

This fact sheet is distributed to help you obtain information regarding available community services and is not an inclusive list of providers. The information is subject to change following publication.

Resource guidelines: Resources include all cash or other liquid assets, or any other real or personal property owned by an individual.

- A single individual cannot have more than $4,000 in liquid resources (bank accounts, CDs, bonds and stocks). A married couple cannot have more than $6,000 in liquid resources.
- Life insurance with a total face value of $1,500 per individual is exempt.
- An irrevocable burial trust per individual with a value not to exceed $6,696 – it cannot be withdrawn.
- A burial plot (ground, crypt, mausoleum, vault), grave marker (headstone, plaque), casket, urn, opening/closing of the grave, applicable sales tax and other repository for remains are exempt.
- One car is exempt.
- The home in which you live is exempt.

There are special rules for married couples when one spouse is in a nursing home or licensed assisted living facility and needs Medicaid, but the other spouse is not receiving care and is not applying for Medicaid. These rules protect resources for the community spouse. You may need to obtain further information on this program, especially if your resources exceed the Medicaid guidelines.

May I dispose of property by conveying it to relatives or selling it?

If you give away your home or other property you own or other resources (such as investments, CDs, bank accounts) – you may be assessed a deprivation of resources and will be ineligible for Medicaid until that money is paid back.
